If you record your own mixes, collect rare imported CD's, download music from the Internet or just want to ensure that your music collection will last, protect your CD's with CDfender, the protective film that can repair and prevent scratches. Whether your CD's are spread all over the car seat, piled high on the stereo or packed into your carrier, it's a recipe for disaster. If your CD's are out of their cases rubbing against each other, they can pick up scratches that can cause annoying skips or even render the disc useless. CDfender is a clear protective film that literally adds a layer of protection while allowing the laser in your player to read right through. CDfender stays on during use and storage. If a CD gets scratched, just peel off the CDfender and the scratch comes with it. Protect your CD's with CDfender and never miss another beat. Use DiscDefender products to protect...
